“Keeping.. our line on & busy..”

“In the field of communication keeping online is necessary at all times to keep us connected and that in the realm of business, action is much needed than a thousand words.”

For me keeping our line on for those in need of Salvation is my greatest responsibility, and being busy in the road of reaching people for Christ makes my life worth achieving. Your missionary has been working very hard constantly walking, traveling around the island to preaching Christ.

As a minister of the church my whole family remained faithful in giving our time inviting people and exerting our efforts and ability to bring more people and visitors to our church. However, despite of our efforts of ministry our church attendance remained the same. Sometimes some people visited our church for only about two Sundays and then eventually stops attending because they feel uncomfortable to our roads and church location. This is the reason why we created “Church Home ministry” to provide time for those people to have a worship service in there own home. In this ministry we become effective but in terms of church as a whole together in one place we are not and that our attendance remained the same. We have so many bible studies, children ministry, collegiate ministry for youth, and mission outreached but what hinders us from booming and overflowing is our church location. Right now your missionary still working on other ways for this church to grow even though sometimes we feel discourage in the fact that our ministry efforts and effectivity is being eaten. For the present We been using our vehicle to bring people in the church.

We believe that “God’s word is not in vain” and that we don’t have jurisdiction for the choices of the life of other people.

“Vehicle top overhaul”

Brethren, thank you very much for the 100 Dollars for the vehicle maintenances. However, there still things needed to be repair and parts to be replace in the vehicle.

Bro. Glen Knight also agreed to the advice of the auto mechanic that the Engine must under go TOP OVERWHAULE before its too late. The vehicle needs 240 Dollars for the whole cost of service, parts and repair. So please help me pray for this need.
